

Shaw Trust Social Enterprise North East - Andrew Walton - case study video

When I was three
I used to follow my aunty with the lawn mower.
One day, she handed over to me the lawn mower and showed me what to do and when I was ten my mum and dad bought me a real ride on lawn mower I use to cut my own and my two neighbours' lawns as well with it Whilst I was growing up I had a few learning difficulties which is associated with dyslexia and tuber sclerosis Shaw Trust gave me more confidence before I wouldn't just go up to somebody and say do you want your gardening doing they saw my passion for gardening they put me out there, they showed me show how to do things they gave me experience and they gave me confidence.
My name is Andrew,
and I'm proud to say that I'm a landscape gardener.
